10-Acre Parking Space Added To Take Care of Fair Crowds

Because the present Fayette County Fair has outgrown the grounds which have held it for these many years, the Fair Board has leased 10 acres of additional parking space on the Scott farm, immediately west of the present grounds, to handle the overflow of cars from the main grounds.

An entrance to the field has been provided just west of the grandstand, between "the hill" and horse barns. The grounds are being policed so that orderly parking will result.

Additional parking space was made necessary because crowds already have overtaken the parking facilities of the grounds, and much larger crowds are expected the remainder of the week as the big agricultural exhibition moves onward according to schedule.

The attendance Tuesday and Wednesday was somewhat under the two days last year, the Tuesday night attendance being cut sharply by rain and threatening weather.

Tuesday night's gate was 704 and grandstand around 1,000, Harold Craig, treasurer of the board, announced.

Last year the night gate was 1700 and grandstand 1169 on Tuesday. Wednesday's gate was 2601 during the afternoon and grandstand 1787.

The night gate was 2177 and grandstand 945.

On Wednesday last year admissions at the gate was 2857 during the day, and grandstand 1812. At night the grandstand was 1337, but no figures were available for the gate for the Wednesday night session.

It is pointed out that there are hundreds of 4-H Club and other exhibitors on the grounds, greatly swelling the crowds.

Fair patrons generally have been highly complimentary regarding the exposition. The exhibit buildings have been thronged by interested persons who have greatly enjoyed the displays and learned much from them.

Many persons from other fair organizations have made themselves known at the secretary's office, and Grange members from other counties also are visiting the Fair here, one of the first in the state, to take back new ideas for their own fairs.

One grange member said that she had been making exhibits at her home fair for 26 years, and had run out of ideas, and came here to obtain ideas for the forthcoming Grange exhibit at her county fair.

The Washington C. H. High School band, under direction of William B. Clift, Jr., furnished music for the grandstand crowd Wednesday afternoon and is on the program for Thursday afternoon. Its playing has been greatly enjoyed.

The Fayette County Band with Rolland Chase directing, will play both Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Work of judging some of the exhibits was still under way Thursday, and all were to be completed during the day.

Numbers Racket War Is Pressed

Cleveland Big Shots Are Found Guilty

CLEVELAND, July 28—(AP)—The prosecution has scored its second victory in a drive against gambling rackets here. There were signs that police bribe-taking might be its new target again.

A jury of nine women and three men last night convicted Willie Hoge and Arthur (Little Brother) Drake of extortion. They had heard evidence since June 27 and deliberated less than two hours.

The two men were accused of threatening and muscling their way into the Goldfield Policy House, a numbers game operation.

Common Pleas Judge Julius M. Kovachy sentenced each to a penitentiary term of one to five years and a fine of $1,000. He denied bail.

It was a victory for Alvin J. Sutton, assistant safety director, who headed the investigation.

He promptly praised Mayor Thomas A. Burke and Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

"When others might get scared it's getting too hot," or when he heard someone's house had been blown up, the mayor just said "Keep on going," said Sutton. And sometimes the mayor accompanied Sutton in midnight talks with witnesses who "might get out of line," the former FBI agent added.

Governor Lausche helped by getting "Baldy" Harris to talk when he was in prison, continued (Please turn to Page Two)

Mack Sauer, Leesburg editor, humorist and philosopher, who startled the Leesburg community a few years ago by offering $10,000 to the parents of the first quintuplets in that community (with no takers) is very much elated.

I had noticed for some time that Mack was needing a vacation, by reason of too much strenuous work, and I was thrilled this week when he informed me that he had been invited by the U. S. Navy to spend several weeks aboard the Battleship Missouri, for a lengthy cruise including a visit to France, Cuba and other points.

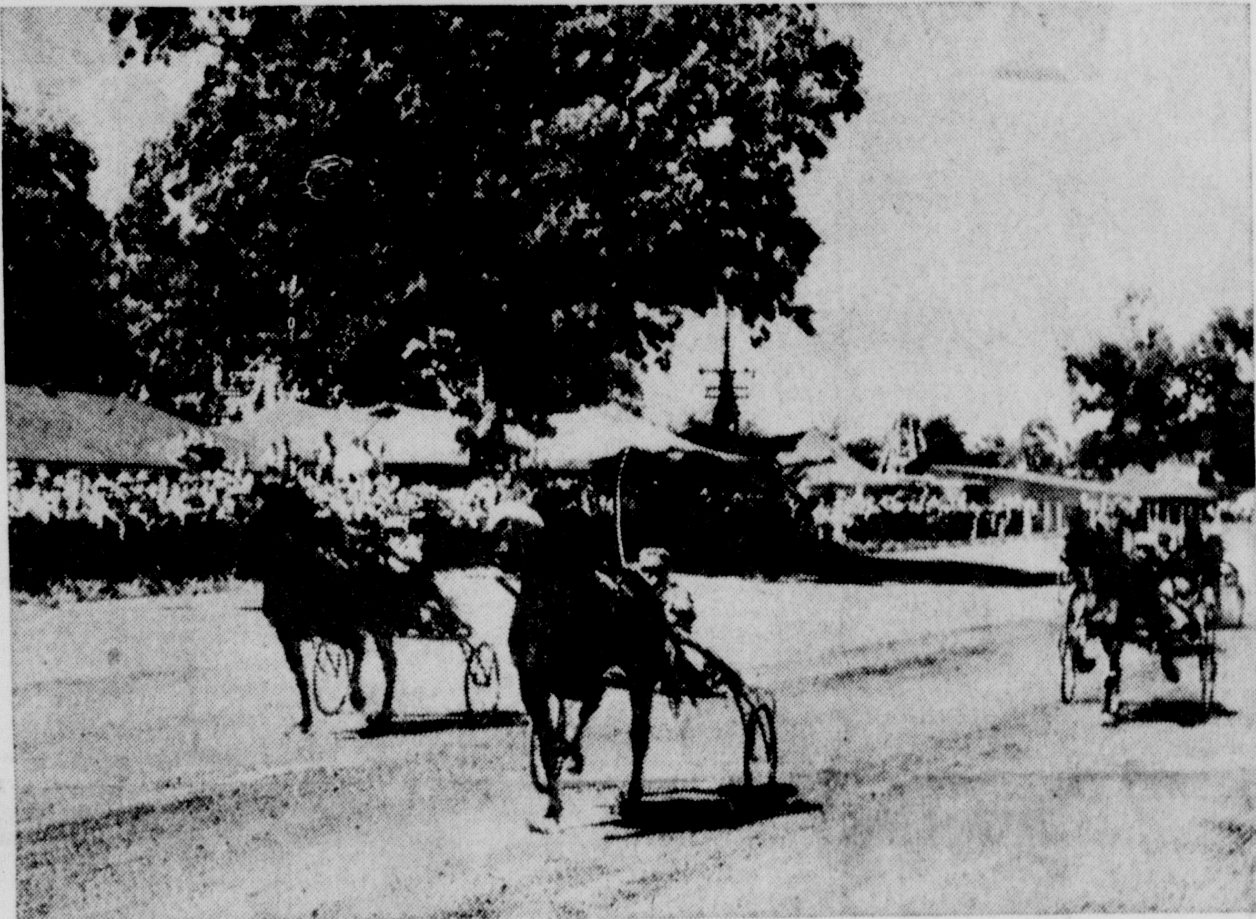

Mack, although greatly elated over the wonderful vacation in store for him, is justly "sore" also, for he has had to take all kinds of anti-thrust, and the other "shots" until his arms and some other parts are "ouchy" to say the least. In fact he has been given or will be given all of the shots usually given sailors, from anti-malaria to vaccination against smallpox.

Mack goes to Norfolk, Va., and boards the big battle wagon August 3, and returning, will reach Norfolk or some other eastern port, September 21.

I had the pleasure of seeing the Missouri tied up in the Norfolk Navy Yards two years ago, and it is some mass of steel.

As most of you recall, it was on the deck of the Missouri that the treaty of peace was signed between Japan and the U. S. at the close of the recent World War.

Mack is one of a small group of newspaper men invited to make the trip, by the Department of Public Relations, U. S. Navy, under direction of Capt. H. E. Sears.

Miss Margaret Baker May Quit GOP Post

Decision To Retire Not Yet Made

SPRINGFIELD, July 28—(AP)—Miss Margaret Baker hinted today she may change her mind about quitting the Republican state central committee post she has held 13 years.

The Springfield woman industrialist told GOP chairmen from six counties last night she will "think over" her decision to retire as committee woman. She made it clear that wasn't a promise to change her mind.

Miss Baker has said she wants to quit the political job before her term expires next May so a successor could gain experience before the 1950 election campaigns.

More Iron Lungs Needed for Polio

MARRET, W. Va., July 28—(AP)—Additional iron lungs for the use of infantile paralysis patients have been requested by Marret Hospital officials.

With five new cases from the Charleston area admitted since Tuesday, Dr. E. Bennette Henson said that two iron lungs have been requested from the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation depot at Columbus, O.

One death has been reported in the state thus far this year from infantile paralysis.

Kirk Colt Wins Stake For 2-Year-old Pacers; Bad Spill Mars Race

$45.40 for $2 Shot Brings Thrill

To Packed Grandstand First Day; Frank Lanum Suffers Broken Arm

A fast, smooth-gaited colt, owned and driven by a Fayette County breeder, won the feature race on the opening day of the four-day harness horse racing program of the Fayette County Fair.

Bob Castle, a bay colt owned and driven by McKinley Kirk of Washington C. H., won both mile dashes of the second division of the stake for 2-year-old pacers while a crowd that packed the rugged old grandstand cheered.

The first division also was won in straight dashes—by Latty B, owned and driven by J. C. Riley of Ironton—but the faster time for the mile made by Bob Castle gave him the race.

Trophy Awarded Kirk

Kirk's colt went his mile in 2:13.2 and 2:13.4 while Riley's chestnut filly's time for the two dashes was 2:13.3 and 2:15.

It was that one-fifth of a second faster time in the first dash and the one and one-fifth seconds in the second dash that brought the race honors to Bob Castle and the Record-Herald trophy to Kirk.

The trophy was presented to Kirk on the track in front of the grandstand immediately after the last dash by Tommy Rodenfels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rodenfels. Rodenfels is the general manager of the Record-Herald.

Frank Lanum Injured

The afternoon was marred by a bad spill at the first turn in the first dash of the second division of the race. Neither of the two horses involved was seriously hurt. But Frank Lanum, veteran Washington C. H. trainer and driver, suffered a broken arm.

Soon after the start, Jo-An Castle, owned by G. D. Baker of Washington C. H., fell, but her driver, Bob Vallery, was thrown (Please Turn to Page Thirteen)

Municipal Court Bill May Face Velo

Washington C. H. and nine of Fayette County's ten townships may not have a municipal court after all.

Machinery for establishing a municipal court here with jurisdiction all over the county with the exception of Jeffersonville and Jefferson Township was rammed through the state Legislature during the closing weeks of the last session as an amendment to the uniform municipal court bill, which the Legislature passed just before adjournment.

Despite considerable opposition at committee hearings, confidence was expressed by opponents that the uniform court bill would become a law in time for the election of new judges for the municipal courts all over the state at the November 8 elections.

Now, however, with the deadline only hours away, Gov. Frank J. Lausche still has the measure on his desk.

Informed sources in the state capital have expressed the belief that the governor might veto the court bill and certain appropriations in the capital improvements act, according to the Associated Press. If he does, the Legislature, which returns Friday for final adjournment, will have a chance (Please turn to Page Two)

Price Supports Broadened

Foreign Demand Shrinkage Is Worry

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—The government is broadening its farm price support operations in a move to stabilize markets being weakened by shrinking foreign demands and increasing production at home.

The agriculture department has added cottonseed and cheese to a long list of agricultural commodities under which it has placed price floors. Its price support operations of the past two years have approached $3,000,000,000.

More than $2,000,000,000 in department funds are invested in grains, cotton, butter, dried milk, dried eggs, and other post-war surplus commodities which the agency has either taken over or is obligated to take over from farmers under the support programs.

If present 1949 farm production prospects materialize and no new market outlets bob up, it is possible that all of the $4,750,000,000 price-support funds of the department's commodity credit corporation will have been exhausted by the time 1949 season support operations are completed.

Vast amounts of money will be needed to support this year's corn and cotton crops, unless yields turn out considerably less than now indicated. Production of both these crops are expected to be far in excess of market demands. Supplies above market demands tend to move into government hands.

This year will be the first time the department has supported grower prices of cottonseed.

Infantile Paralysis Heads for Worst Year Yet with 6,935 Cases

Malady Appears To Be Gaining Strength with Hot Weather, Survey Across Country by AP Reveals

Infantile paralysis cases in 1949 are running far ahead of 1944 -- the second worst polio year in U. S. history.

An Associated Press survey today showed 6,935 cases over the nation through July 27, with 337 polio deaths.

In 1944 the total for the same date was 4,176. Totals for 1944 eventually reached 19,029, topped only by 27,363 in 1916.

The U. S. Public Health Service in Washington reported the 6,339 cases as of July 23 this year was 38.4 percent higher than the 4,339 reported through the same date in 1948--and 1948 was a near-record year.

Polio appeared to be gaining strength with the hot weather. Government figures showed 1,444 new cases during the week ending July 23. This was an increase of 47.5 percent over the same week of 1948, which had 979. In 1944, there were 915 new cases for the week ending July 27.

For the most part the polio upsurge appeared to be fairly evenly distributed over the nation. Only scattered epidemic areas were reported.

At least 33 states reported a step-up in the polio rate, while eight showed a decline. Nineteen states have had more than 100 cases this year compared with only seven states above the 100 mark at the same time last year.

Nearly two-thirds of the nation's polio was centered in nine states. The leaders were Texas, 1,123; California 708; Arkansas 488; Oklahoma 440; New York 353; Missouri 302; Minnesota 286; Michigan 270 and Illinois 259.

Washington County Gun Welder Is Held

HARRISVILLE, W. Va., July 28—(AP)—William Alford Blackford, 79, of near Coal Run, a Washington County, O., is being held for investigation in the fatal shooting Saturday of his 62-year-old sister, Mrs. Cleopatra Cunningham.

Sheriff H. A. Britton reported the detention. The woman's body was found at her farm home on the outskirts of Pennsboro where she lived alone.

160 Nabbed In Joint Raid

MAPLE SHADE, N. J., July 28—(AP)—One-hundred-and-sixty men were arrested and $40,000 confiscated here today in a state police raid on an armed gambling joint.

Despite an armored lookout station in which police said they found a revolver and pistol, the 18 raiders captured every occupant of the one-story concrete-block building without firing a shot.

Listed officially as a plumbing warehouse, officers found the interior to contain "several gross" of dice, several cartons of playing cards, scratch sheets, blackboards listing every major race track in the country, a ticker tape system with an underground wire, and slot machines.

Former Sheriff Ends Life at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Stanley E. Arthur, 75 former Clinton County sheriff and a former minor league baseball player, was found shot to death last night in his home. Sheriff Howard C. Botts said it was suicide.

Cops Manhandled At 'Rassle' Show

COLUMBUS, July 28—(AP)—A visiting policeman was bitten and an officer on duty suffered a possible wrist fracture last night in an riot at a wrestling show at Hat's Acre, police reported.

Patrolman Lloyd Crider, 37, of Lancaster suffered severe bites on the left hand. The policeman who received the wrist injury was motorcycle officers George Kegg, 27, of Columbus.

The trouble started when a spectator threw gravel into the ring. Then Patrolman Crider took exception to a remark made by William Gwinn, 27.

Soon a dozen spectators were swinging fists and pop bottles, and 12 policemen finally broke up the melee.

Gwinn and his father Nathan, 52, were charged with inciting a riot. William was treated at a hospital for head lacerations. Officers Crider and Kegg also were given treatment at a hospital.

Man Accused of Selling Daughters

BESSEMER, Ala., July 28—(AP)—A young father has been accused of selling his two and a half year old daughter for $500. Police said they are checking reports that he offered his other daughter, age eight months, for adoption for $600.

The father, Layman Alvin Edwards, 26-year-old unemployed miner, told reporters he agreed to the adoption of his daughter, Jewel, because "I couldn't give her the things she needs."

Edwards' 24-year-old wife said $140 of the money went to buy a 1936 automobile.

Police Chief Lacey Alexander said the miner was jailed yesterday for investigation. The chief and the solicitor's (prosecutor) office will confer on what formal charges are to be filed against Edwards.

Jewel has been living with the W. H. Sessions for the past three months. The Sessions, who are childless, have adoption proceedings.

Mrs. Edwards posed for a picture with Jewel and Mrs. Sessions. The child refused to go to her mother.

Later Mrs. Edwards burst into tears. "They have taught that child not to pay any attention to me," she told a reporter. "I don't care whether I live or not."

"It wouldn't have been so bad if it had been my other one, Jewel was my first one. I suffered for that child."

Sessions, a Bessemer cafe owner, and Edwards, denied the $500 represented a purchase price.

The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Like the birds in the spring, the antipoll tax bill comes back every year.

It attracts attention and then goes away, only to come back another day.

That's just about what will happen to the anti-poll tax bill passed by the house yesterday.

It can't become law unless the senate also approves, and the senate almost certainly won't do that this year.

Then the bill will bob up again next year. Four times in recent years the house has approved an anti-poll tax bill.

Each time it died in the senate. It can always be passed in the house with ease because:

Northern Democrats and Republicans, on this issue anyway, join forces to swamp the southern Democrats who fight the bill.

The southern Democrats can be stopped cold in the house where there's a limit on debate.

It's a different story in the senate where debate is unlimited and the southerners, with a filibuster, can talk for weeks and jam up the whole senate program for the year.

If anyone tries to bring up the house-passed bill in the senate this year, which is unlikely, the southerners seem apt to block it to block it with a filibuster.

Congress wants to quit for 1949 by September. Between now and then the senate will have its hands full with other things. A filibuster would wreck the schedule and the vacation hopes.

Yet, an anti-poll tax bill has been offered in congress every year for the past 10 years volumes have been filled with the testimony of hundreds of people who have trudged up to the capitol to speak for or against the bill.

The poll tax problem has been argued so long that every time the bill comes up in the house for a vote, both sides say the same things they've been saying for years. It's like listening to a phonograph now.

This bill passed yesterday is aimed at wiping out the poll tax in seven southern states where it has to be paid before a man can vote. Those states are Virginia, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, Alabama, South Carolina, Tennessee.

Briefly, some of the main arguments go like this:

For the bill—no one should have to pay a tax to vote; the tax keeps millions of poor whites and negroes from voting at all; it keeps them, particularly the negroes, from having a voice in their government; because the tax keeps people from voting, southern congressmen represent only a comparatively small percentage of their people, the ones who do vote.

Against the bill — states have a right to make their own voting laws; it's unconstitutional for congress to interfere with them; besides, southern whites and negroes should be allowed to work out their own problems without northern interference.

Each year's death of a poll tax bill is a blow to the negro and other organizations which have been fighting for years to get the tax wiped out in the South.

But they'll keep plugging away next year to get a bill finally passed, just as the southern Demo-

Surface Treatment To Be Applied By Cavett Company

The extensive program of surface treating Ohio's highways inaugurated by the State Highway Department in the Spring is proceeding at high speed, and additional contracts for this important phase of highway maintenance are being awarded regularly.

Cavett Company, contractors of Lockland, had been awarded the contract for surface treating with bituminous road mix, approximately six miles of State Route 734 between the intersections of State Routes 70 and 38; five miles of State Route 70 between Washington C. H. and its Junction with State Route 734; five miles of State Route 38 between Washington C. H. and Bloomingburg.

Suicide Fails—but Boy Is Left Blind

YOUNGSTOWN, July 28—(AP)—Thirteen-year-old Fred Hogler may recover from his suicide attempt, but he will be blind.

Physicians at Youngstown Hospital reported the bullet wound in his temple had blotted out the sight in both eyes. His condition is serious.

The boy shot himself with a pistol Monday while in the juvenile detention home.

After leaving two suicide notes, the youth ran away from home Sunday and was picked up by police, they still are trying to learn where he got the pistol and how he smuggled it into the detention home.

Race Betting Down At Two Ohio Tracks

COLUMBUS, July 28—(AP)—Bettors at two Ohio race tracks shoved less money across the windows at meetings this year than they did last, the State Racing Commission reported yesterday.

At the recent Marion night harness races, the mutuel play was down 45 percent from last year, the commission said. The 15-day meet averaged $13,537 a night, or a total of $203,050. Last year, a 16-day meeting, the track handled $359,684 for a daily average of $22,480.

A drop of 14 percent was reported at the 43-day River Downs running races. The Cincinnati track handled $5,854,687 this year. Betting totaled $5,132,809 last year.

Reason For U. S. -- Europe Difficulties

In one of his recent columns, Walter Lippman, who is perhaps the best of the publicists, asked why all our ambitious and costly plans for world rehabilitation have fallen so short of expectations. He put it this way: "Beginning with the world bank and the monetary fund, which were followed by the British and the French loans, which were followed by the Marshall plan, we have tried to reconstruct a world economy in which our partners and friends could earn their way toward a rising standard of life. . . But we have not succeeded, and once again the economic relations of Europe and North America are at a crisis."

Mr. Lippman's explanation for this tragic failure is an interesting one. He said, "the crux of the problem and the heart of the crisis is that Europe must buy absolute necessities from us whereas there is almost nothing that we have to buy from Europe."

In other words, the United States, even as it has become the dominant Western power, has attained an unprecedented degree of self-sufficiency. With few exceptions, we can produce and manufacture within our own borders everything that we need to maintain and to improve our standard of living, and we are capable of doing this for a far larger population than we have now. In Mr. Lippman's view, this situation is in itself a result of war. He observes that the story is told again and again of how war has exhausted the wealth and the energy of Europe. But the other side of the story is far less well known. To quote him again, "it is how the wars have affected the United States, causing by forced draught an increase not only in American productivity but also in American self-sufficiency. . . Wars in Europe have compelled this country to save itself and to save Europe, including Russia, by developing its own industrial and agricultural production to a point where it is largely self-sufficient with great surpluses in addition."

The present British dollar crisis, which has led the government to drastically curtail buying from this country, is in point. It certainly seems true that some of the policies and practices of the socialists now at the helm in England have speeded up the trouble, and have brought matters to a head a year or two earlier than might have been the case otherwise. However, the fact that we no longer need to buy British goods in any great quantity dominates the whole picture. She had hoped for a great export trade with us which has not materialized. If she cannot sell, she cannot long buy, for the dollars which go out are not being replaced.

No one has yet found a solution to this great problem. It shows how rocky and tortuous we are finding the road to world peace and stability.

Getting Lost

For every tourist who ever became lost in Washington D. C., it must have been as refreshing as a cup of cold water to read the other day that Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who has been there thirteen years, lost his way in the Capitol.

The tourist who finds himself suddenly going the wrong way on a one-way street in some strange city can take fresh heart. Maybe he didn't remember wrongly the directions he obtained from the native citizen on the corner. Maybe the native citizen didn't know the way, either. That thought won't help find the way, but it's something to tell the back-seat drivers.

Beering Up Under the Strain

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK.—(P)— Guess what Noah took into his ark—besides people—that also rode in the Mayflower and soled the Pilgrims.

Beer!

Yes, sir, and beer also went to the South Pole with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd on his Antarctic expedition in 1939.

These and other little known facts about beer have been compiled by the United States Brewers Foundation. They have been set forth in a little pamphlet designed to let the common man know what's behind the foam in his glass.

It shows that a gent who sidles up to the bar and says "Pull one" isn't simply ordering a cooling drink. He's bending elbows with history.

Why, it says here, beer has marched step by step with man in his upward march since the dawn of time. Beer is as old as farming and has played a bubbling role in war, science, cooking, medicine and the development of a hundred modern industries. Here are a few facts uncovered by the industry's scholars:

A Mesopotamian seal, backed in pottery and showing two workers at a brewery vat, proves beer was known 6,200 years ago.

When Christopher Columbus came to Central America in 1502, he found beer had traveled here before him. The Indians were escaping from the heat with "a sort of wine made of maize (corn), resembling English beer."

The phrase "mind your P's and Q's" is thought to have sprung from the old English tavern-keepers' custom of noting down customer orders—by pints and quarts.

John Alden, who wooed and won Priscilla Mullen, got passenger space on the Mayflower because he was a cooper and could repair the beer barrels aboard.

The first white child born in New York City, Jean Virne, became a brewer in what is now Wall Street. William Penn, the quaker, built a brewery next to his Manor House.

Soldiers in the American Revolution drew a quart of beer each in their daily rations. When the supply ran short George Washington begged the board of war in 1777 to rush the growler for more.

Washington himself drank beer. Other members of this early day "Men of Distinction" club were Samuel Adams, a brewer himself, Thomas Jefferson, Patrick Henry, Israel Putnam and James Madison.

How did Joseph Priestley enfold his theory on the life-giving qualities of oxygen? By studying bubbles rising to the surface of a beer vat.

Where was the first air-conditioning plant installed in America? In a brewery in Alexandria, Va., in 1880.

In 1810, the first year for which production figures are available, the American population of 7,239,881 drank 182,690 barrels of beer and ale, or 0.78 gallons per capita.

In 1948 the population had risen to 146,114,000, the consumption to 86,992,795 barrels, or a per capita record of 18.5 gallons. The industry now figures it employs 80,000 persons, buys $300,000,000 in farm products each year, pays out almost as much in salaries and some $900,000,000 in taxes.

Whether these figures will give the average beer drinker pause for thought or not, he will be interested in one thing. Beer during the American Revolution sold for about ten cents a gallon. "But by today's standards it was not too great a bargain," says the brewers' foundation. "It usually was sparkly, cloudy and lacking in sparkle."

Washington himself drank beer. Other members of this early day "Men of Distinction" club

New York's Mayoralty Travesty

By George E. Sokolsky

The mayor of New York is a fiscal and administrative official who deals with a budget of over a billion dollars a year, approximately the size of the budget of the state of New York. He is charged with the policing, the sanitation, the education (elementary, high school and college), the transportation facilities of 8,000,000 human beings.

One would expect that, in the metropolis of the world, such a public post would go to a man of extraordinary administrative capacity and financial genius. Actually, the city is in very bad shape financially. Real estate taxes are so high as to be a factor in the discouragement of building. The transportation problem has become so fouled that to many it seems hopeless. The city has embarked upon the socialistic enterprise of operating its own means of transportation, but that has not eliminated strikes, provided decent working conditions nor found the financing for essential improvements. The streets are dirty beyond anything that has been visible in the more than half century that I have known New York.

So the politicians selected, in private conclave, three politicians who are to run for mayor against one another. Not one of them is famous for his administrative skill or financial genius.

William O'Dwyer, the current mayor, has been a policeman, a lawyer, a magistrate, and the district attorney of Brooklyn. He is an affable person, possessing great charm and is, no doubt, public-spirited. He has quarreled with Tammany Hall and is what may euphemistically be called pro-labor; that is, he knows where the votes are. He is direct and at times hard-spoken. His administration of New York during the past four years has not been particularly notable, but, on the record, has been no worse than the administration of Fiorello La Guardia, who won great fame internationally but left his town bankrupt.

Newbold Morris has, at times, been a Republican but generally travels with those who like to call themselves liberals. He is handsome, charming, well-spoken, rather aristocratic in manner but not startlingly bright. I have personally heard the very men who brought about his nomination comment on his good intentions and lack of acumen. He was president, for a time of the city council, when its meetings attracted attention for their lack of deliberation and their general tendency to become a brawl. Perhaps it was not his fault, a president not being a Czar. Nothing in his career would indicate administrative skill or financial knowledge.

Vito Marcantonio is a fiery little congressman who represents the east of Harlem. He was a protege of LaGuardia at one time. He has steadily and without deviation supported, by speeches and votes in Congress, the Communist party line as expounded in the "Daily Worker" and other Communist publications. He heads the American labor party, which, in New York state, is regarded as the political arm of Communism. He has never demonstrated administrative or financial ability and no one would falsely accuse him of possessing either.

I have scanned the tickets for other men of outstanding ability in other posts and no such names appear. Apparently, the Democrats and Republicans have done the best they could to garner the votes of the organized racial and religious components of the city. All tickets are evenly balanced to take care of that, but no ticket shows any particular regard for the city.

It is all an interesting commentary on what these politicians glibly call democracy. The Republicans ordinarily could not elect anyone, so their problem was to form a coalition with Dave Dubinsky's liberal party and international Ladies Garment Workers Union, which controls a large block of votes. Dubinsky chose the slate and should Newbold Morris be elected, Dubinsky will be the boss of New York.

On the other hand, Ed Flynn, the Bronx boss of the Democratic party, insisted on the renomination of Bill O'Dwyer, after he had declined the office and another had been selected for the nomination. Should O'Dwyer be elected, Ed Flynn will be Boss.

And, of course, should Vito Marcantonio be elected, I suppose, by past performances, Joe Stalin will be the Boss.

There it is, gentlemen. You have your choice—Dubinsky, Flynn or Stalin.

Diet and Health

Misfit Dentures Upset Digestion

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CHEWING not only prepares food for the stomach but the stomach for food. In other words, the chewing of palatable food stimulates the flow in the stomach of these juices necessary to digestion. In addition, of course, the teeth break up the food so that it is more easily taken care of by the stomach and bowel. Hence, it goes without saying, that it is important to chew food well.

Poorly-fitting dentures or false teeth are one of the chief causes of inadequate chewing. Even normal people vary in the degree of biting strength which they can exert but those with false teeth are often unconsciously reluctant to use their full biting power for fear that chewing will be painful.

Choice of Foods

Persons with low biting power must necessarily limit their choice of foods. This is especially true of those who have poorly-fitting dentures or those who have severe disorders affecting gums or supporting tissues of the teeth.

Many of the important parts of the modern diet, such as fruits and vegetables, present difficulties in chewing for those who do not use enough biting force. In such instances, attempts are made to offset the difficulty by swallowing larger or coarser food masses or by choosing softer foods for the diet. This frequently leads to poor nutrition, especially among elderly persons. Thus it is important for all persons, and especially the elderly, to visit the dentist regularly so that the teeth may be put in the best possible condition. If a denture is necessary, it should be properly fitted so that chewing can be carried on effectively.

Bear in mind that if a person cannot chew his food as he should because of pain or even the fear that chewing will cause pain, he is likely to suffer from malnutrition due to the lack of all the necessary foods. Furthermore, the swallowing of large lumps of food may lead to irritation of the stomach and digestive upsets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. 6: Is there any treatment or operation which would help a person who is tongue-tied?

A: Tongue-tie is an unusual disorder. However, if the hand which connects the tongue to the floor of the mouth is short, the condition can be relieved by cutting this structure.

Fruit and Vegetable Exhibit Is Dominated by Zimmermans

Blue ribbons are nothing new to the Zimmermans.

Clara, Elmer and Raymond are brothers and sister who have had entries in almost every Fayette County Fair since 1919.

Their absence was noticeable last year but the Zimmermans came to the Fair this week with a number of entries in their specialty, the fruits and vegetables exhibit.

In an amazing display of ribbons which showed they hadn't lost their touch, the Zimmermans "placed" in 32 of the 41 exhibits. Their prize entries won them 18 blue ribbons, 20 second-places and 10 third-place awards.

The two brothers and sister grow about 29 varieties of apples on their farm on Prairie Pike, four miles north of here.

Asked about the magic they use in turning out prize products year in and year out, Elmer said: "It's a long story, but the biggest secret is in fertilizing, spraying and pruning. The age of the orchard is also important and there are a lot of little things involved that the ordinary person is totally unaware of."

The main part of the Zimmermans' orchard was planted in 1925. Altogether, they have 137 acres of farmland, of which 16 are orchard.

Miss Clara described her part in the farm work by saying "I do the selling and the boys do the work."

They made up two entries of each item, with Miss Clara letting Elmer submit the entry he thought best in their own judging at home. However, she rebelled on the stock beets entry, her favorite, and put her own name on her display. She was right. The judge at the Fair gave her first place and Elmer second.

The Zimmermans passed out apples from their farm to Fair visitors after the judging.

While the Zimmermans dominated the fruit and vegetable displays, other exhibitors did come in for a share of the awards. Here is the way the judge placed the ribbons after careful consideration Wednesday:

Stolen Narcotics Found, Woman Held

CINCINNATI, July 28—(AP)—Acting on a tip, police and federal narcotics agents yesterday recovered narcotics which they said would have brought $26,000 in the illegitimate market.

The officers arrested Miss Fay Arlington, 28, a Columbus waitress and today they were seeking another person.

Russell Jones of the vice squad said the narcotics had been stolen from the University Hospital at Columbus. He said the woman denied participation in the burglary of the hospital but admitted she had helped in moving the drugs. She was held on suspicion of illegal possession of drugs.

Three-Team Battle Seen by Boudreau

NEW YORK, July 28—(AP)—Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians, foresees another stirring three-team battle down to the wire for the American League pennant.

"I look for another terrific finish, with Cleveland, New York and Boston fighting it out as dramatically as they did in 1948," Lou said yesterday as he watched rain drench Yankee Stadium.

The shower finally forced umpires to call the second game of the important series with the Indians and Yankees tied 4-4 after four innings.

Boudreau said he was well satisfied with the conditions of his own mound staff as he faced the challenge.

"With Gene Bearden back in his 1948 pitching form and Mike Garcia helping out, we should be set for the stretch drive," he said.

Dayton newspaperman, was killed instantly yesterday in a plunge from the 11th floor of a downtown hotel.

Water Supply Is Plentiful Here At Present

Paint Creek Flow Is
May Continue

Washington C. H.'s water supply is holding up better than usual this late in July, with indications that normal rainfall may see the usual dry season pass without drawing too heavily upon the deep wells for the supply of water for the city.

In some previous years Paint Creek had ceased flowing over the dam at the pumping plant here before this date, but at the present time Paint Creek is flowing over the dam at a little better than a normal rate, with indications that the flow will continue for sometime.

Inasmuch as the ground is thoroughly saturated, and the stream is flowing strong, the shallow wells at the plant here may be able to produce sufficient water for weeks before resorting to nearly all deep pumpage.

Tests have not been completed on the numerous holes drilled for the company, both on the property north of the pumping plant, and also on the grounds of the auxiliary plant, east of Elm Street.

The last well drilled by Parrett and Mercer, located 400 yards northwest of the pumping plant, near Paint Creek, was tested recently and produced 200 gallons per minute, Supt. O. D. Farquhar announced.

This new well is being tied in with the other wells, and will do much toward boosting the present deep well supply when needed, unless it drains from the same pool tapped by other wells.

The well is 10 inches and is 20 feet in depth.

This will be one year when citizens may rest assured something like an adequate supply of water will be available at all times, providing there is normal rainfall in August and September.

Preacher Shot Down
By Father of Bride

TAMPA, Fla., July 28—(P)—A former Baptist preacher was shot to death and police said the shooting was admitted by the father of a 15-year-old organist with whom the churchman eloped recently.

The Rev. John P. Lane, 35, died in a hospital shortly after he was fired upon following a brief street argument in downtown Tampa.

Detective inspector D. D. Stephens said Ward C. Cornelius, 32, father of Mrs. Lane, was arrested for questioning. When advised that Lane was dead, Stephens quoted Cornelius as saying: "Thank God for that."

When taken into custody Cornelius, Stephens reported, said, "well, I did it—is he dead? You won't have to use any guns. I'll go peaceful." Cornelius is a railway baggage employee.

Drowned In River

MCCONNELSVILLE, July 28—(P)—Dale Yarnell, 13, drowned yesterday in the Muskingum river. He had been swimming in the river at Big Bottom Park 10 miles south of here.

Hungry Alabama youths sit down to a hearty meal in the mess hall at the Harold C. Mark & Son hybrid seed corn farm on the Miami Trace Road. The Alabamans come here each summer to detassel hybrid seed corn on the Mark farms. About half of this year's crew are shown in the above photo.

Four boys from Alabama ride a detasseler, driven by Gene Mark, through one of the Harold C. Mark & Son hybrid seed corn fields. The detassellers stand on a platform on the machine so they can better reach tassels.

Work Hard, Eat Heartily During Stay On Mark Farm

Last of 28 Alabama youths who have been detasseling corn on the Harold Mark hybrid corn farm west of Washington C. H. have returned to their homes in the south.

And with them they have taken memories of hard work and hard play—all done according to "homemade" democratic rules.

Last of the group to go—11 in all—got a good send-off Tuesday when they were taken on a tour of Columbus then to a Red Bird ball game.

They were real 'Bama lads, who worked hard all day detasseling corn, then in the evening after a big home-cooked meal, served in hearty Ohio country style, they played football in the farmyard.

They were a part of a group of 73 Alabama youths who came by chartered buses from the deep south to work in corn fields near Washington C. H., Hillsboro and Lebanon.

All the boys were under the supervision of C. C. Ratcliff, who has been bringing boys up to Ohio for more than five years. He is connected with the Alabama State Employment Service.

Most of the boys were high school graduates who needed a little summer employment and not finding it in their home state applied for help from the employment service.

Job No Picnic

Their job was no picnic, however, and some who can't stand the gaff of working under the sticky sun in cornfields all day asked to be sent back home.

There was the necessity of living by a code which was administered largely by the boys. It called for the boys to be in by 10 o'clock each evening except Saturday.

The boys made no bones about enforcement of their code. Recently three among the group stayed out too late, one for a second night in a row, and found themselves on their way home before they were scheduled to leave.

A committee of five members, four of them selected by the boys and one picked by the supervisor, saw to it that laws of the camp were abided by and that discipline was meted out to offenders.

Most are under 21

For the most part, they were boys under 21, who liked to work hard and play hard.

They apparently lived up to the standards asked by Harold Mark. He has had them back year after year to help detassel some 260 acres of hybrid corn which he has under cultivation.

He quartered them in a clean new looking barn, broken up into grade corn on the Mark farm. Mark described his crop as "excellent" and said several stocks were running well over eight feet up.

Americans Warned To Get Out of China

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today that Americans remaining in China face the danger of being treated as hostages by the Communists.

He told a news conference that Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, in preparing to return to the United States for consultations, has run into numerous difficulties put in his way by Communist authorities at Nanking.

Acheson also said the state department has been advised that Randall Gould, editor of the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury, has been held since noon yesterday (Shanghai time) without food, water or sleep by newspaper workers as the result of a labor dispute.

Competition Is Wide Open In Fair Beef Cattle Show

Jess Hagler and Sons made a clean sweep of the Angus cattle show and Dr. O. W. House duplicated in the Shorthorn show when the judging at the Fair here was completed Wednesday.

But there was a wide open scramble for honors and ribbons in the Hereford department of the beef cattle exhibit.

The champion bull was from the El-Ray Farm of Ray Brandenburg, president of the Fair Board, and the champion female was shown by Esther Marting, school girl daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Marting of the Bea-Mar Farm.

Blue Ribbons for the other classes were well distributed among other exhibitors, most of them members of the Fayette County Hereford Breeders Association.

The beef cattle awards were:

Mine Operators Oppose Lewis Plan

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 28—(AP)—Soft coal operators hinted today they may fight John L. Lewis' three day work week even if it means a tight shut down of the pits in approaching cold weather.

Lewis failed to appear at the resumption of contract negotiations here yesterday. At the same time the major commercial and "captive" steel company representatives said they were ready to talk business.

The operators said Lewis' absence meant he was trying to show the employers he was displeased by the testimony of Harry M. Moses, George H. Love, and other operator representatives at a Senator Robertson (D-Va.) on the subject of union monopoly influence.

POLICE AUTHORITIES in Gate City, Va., have arrested Ernest I. Torrence (right) on charges of Mrs. Annie Annin (left) of Pittsburgh, who claims she and her two children were swindled of $14,000. Mrs. Annin reportedly said Torrence obtained the money after promising to marry her daughter, Julie. According to Mrs. Annin, he also promised to make choice investments for the family. Behind the Scenes At a Cattle Show

Who knows what goes on behind the scenes? There was a brother and sister show that the spectators didn't see yesterday at the Fair.

Sammy Marting led HH Miss Glen from the 4-H barn where he'd spent lots of time putting on the finishing touches for the 4-H breeding class.

He handed the halter rope to his sister, Esther, who had already won a blue ribbon on her entry. Then Sammy retired to the secretary's office, still in view of the show ring.

He watched the judging quietly and, when the judge had handed Esther the blue ribbon for top honors, he remarked softly, "I'd better get on back and take over, now."

It's nice to have a brother. Incidentally, Sammy is aiming at a career in cattle raising under the eye of his dad, Sam B. Marting of the Bea-Mar Farms.

Senators From Ohio Vote Against Spending

WASHINGTON, July 28—(AP)—Senators Robert A. Taft and John W. Bricker, Ohio Republicans, yesterday voted for the amendment to cut $74,000,000 from European recovery spending in the final quarter of the fiscal year ending July 1. The amendment was defeated 41 to 37.

Newspapermen in State 'Jobs' Is Condemned by Editors in Report After Investigations

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(P)—A board of 15 leading editors has condemned the acceptance of state government salaries by some newspapermen in Illinois, and said newspapermen in other regions should find out whether the same thing is happening there.

The 15 editors comprise the board of directors of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE). The board made a unanimous report on the Illinois affair yesterday after sending a three-man investigating committee to travel over the state and interview people involved.

Here are the board's main conclusions:

It commended the Chicago Daily News and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for exposing the fact last April that 51 newspapermen were on the Illinois State payroll between 1941 and 1949, during the Republican administration of former governor Dwight H. Green.

It said the wire services should have promptly picked up the story and transmitted it over the country. It said their delay in doing this was due to "faulty news judgment" in their Chicago or St. Louis bureaus and was not due to any "considered intent to suppress the news of the exposures."

It said the Illinois story "should lead newspapermen and newspapermen throughout the country to examine their own practices as well as political practices existing in their localities. The press of the country should be alert to the importance of avoiding not only evil but all appearance of evil."

Old Political Custom

It said there is substantial evidence of a long-standing political custom in Republican and Democratic administrations in Illinois of "rewarding some newspaper publishers and their employees, along with other citizens working for the party," by giving them state jobs involving little or no service to the public.

The board then declared: "We deplore this practice by any government as an improper use of public funds. We condemn the acceptance of such funds by newspapermen as unethical and as contrary to the public responsibilities and obligations of the press."

The three-man investigating committee was headed by Jenkin Lloyd Jones, editor of the Tulsa Tribune. The other members were A. Y. Aronson, managing editor of the Louisville Times, and John W. Hillman, editorial director of the Indianapolis News.

The 15-man board of directors is headed by B. M. McKelway, editor of the Washington Star, who is president of the ASNE.

The board said that of the 892 newspapers in Illinois, fewer than 50 were involved in the payroll affair, and most of these were small, economically weak papers in small communities.

Some Jobs Legitimate

The board did not hold all of the 51 newspapermen to have acted improperly. It said some of them "held legitimate positions, widely known to the public, performing services to the state against which there is no valid criticism."

But the board reported that in the opinion of the three-man investigating committee, a majority of the 51 newspapermen held state jobs that were either "out-right sinecures" or jobs in which their duties were entirely or primarily political.

The board expressed this view on newspapermen in government:

"There are many legitimate opportunities for newspapermen to serve at the federal, state or local government level, but such service should never be clandestine, and there should always be, at the beginning of such service, full disclosure of the nature of the work and compensation given therefor."

Obligation of Press

It made this declaration on the press in general:

"Our newspapers must be the auditors of government. Anything that compromises their independence, their freedom to evaluate and to criticize, their reputation for complete integrity and fairness, threatens not only the press but the system of free government under which we live."

In discussing the failure of the wire services to carry the story promptly, the board said:

"Newspapers and wire services should be as quick to report public criticism of the press as to report criticism of any other element of our society. Failure to do so invites damaging inference as to the good faith of the press."

AP Late but First

The board gave these dates: The Chicago Daily News and St. Louis Post-Dispatch published their first stories on April 27. United Press and International News Service carried their first stories on May 10.

The board said the Chicago Daily News Service, which furnishes articles to client newspapers, did not transmit the story to those papers until May 2, after being requested to do so. In explanation of this delay, Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Knight Newspapers (owners of the Chicago Daily News), told the board: "We considered it an Illinois story. We did not foresee the national impact. We have frankly been amazed by the terrific national interest manifested—"

The board's report was written by a six-man committee of board members, including Virgil Dabney, editor, Richmond Times-Dispatch; N. R. Howard, editor, Cleveland News; Alexander F. Jones, assistant to the publisher, Washington Post; David Lawrence, Baltimore Sun; and president B. M. McKelway.

The other directors are:

Drakes Nip Welders Fans See Hurling Duel

The fans came to Wilson Field to see good softball Wednesday night and they got enough to last them for a long while.

In what was probably the season's best pitching duel Drake bested Easter as the Drake's edged the Welding School by 2-0 to stay unbeaten.

In the opener of the doubleheader, Armbrust came from behind with a four-run outburst in the third inning and held NCR the rest of the way to win, 5-3.

In the nightcap, the Drake's came mighty close to their first defeat as Easter matched Drake in striking out ten men.

Easter gave up two hits, one to Stinson and a double by Joe Drake. The only hit the Welding School got was by B. Dowler.

The Drake's capitalized on an error to score their first run in the fifth and added an earned run in the sixth while playing tight ball in the field to blank the Welding School.

Girls To Play Curtain Raiser Friday Night

The girls are coming out again. They are slated to raise the curtain on Friday night's weekly double feature softball card at Wilson Field when the Washington C. H. team meets a team from Cedarville.

In the second half of the card, the Universals are to play hosts to the Standard Parts outfit from Xenia.

Both of the invading teams have good records for the season and fans who have seen them in action today are predicting a couple of bang-up frays. The outcome in each is considered a toss-up.

The first game is slated to get under way at 7:30 P. M. and the second will follow immediately after the customary warm-up period.

This is another of those sports cards arranged to add a bit of cash to the fund for running the recreation program through the summer.

No admission is to be charged, but plans have been made to make it easy to contribute to the cause at the gate.

These Friday night specials not only provide some top notch softball but also help keep the recreation program going.

Kirk Colt Wins Stake For 2-Year-old Pacers

clear. Loraine Song, owned by Ira Garringer of Jamestown, ran into the upset sulky and failed fully and went down, too. Lanum, who was driving Loraine Song, was catapulted off the bike into the track. His arm was broken in the fall.

Both Jo-An Castle and Loraine Song came back for the second dash and Vallery was back at the reins again.

Long Shot Wins

Tilly Direct, a bay mare owned and driven by R. C. Allen of Urbana, gave the long-shot betters the big thrill of the opening day when she won the first dash of the 22 pace and paid $45.40 for $2 in the mutuels.

Margaret Ann Song, a bay mare by Gay Song, finished second in the first dash, but came back to win the second dash and paid $14.20 for $2. She is owned by Elliott & Holtzmler of Farmersville and was driven by Evers.

The race went to Tilly Direct, although she finished fourth in the second dash, because of her time of 2:09.3 in winning the first dash. Margaret Ann Song went the mile in 2:11.3.

Zinna Song, owned by Jim Moody of Mechanicsburg and driven by Ernie Smith of Washington C. H. was the favorite in the wide open race. The bay colt, however, finished third in the first dash and second in the second.

The C. A. Gossard Jewelry Store trophy was presented to the owner of Tilly Direct by George Pensly, the proprietor of the store, after the race.

Needed in Community

City Manager Winston W. Hill said today he planned to take whatever action is necessary to get federal aid under the provisions of the public housing act.

He said housing units were "badly" needed in Washington, D. C. and indicated a survey may be taken to determine how many housing units were needed in this community.

Hill said he wrote to Clarence J. Brown, representative from the seventh congressional district, to determine what should be done to qualify for federal aid.

The city manager said he was "definitely planning" on getting help from the government to ease the housing situation here.

Act Now, Advice
The public housing administration said today Ohio cities will be wise to apply for federal housing funds without waiting for their courts to untangle pending legal complications.

A waiver of rights to tax the property is required by the federal government before permitting any housing authority to share in the public housing funds. Question has been raised in Ohio whether a new state law permitting such waivers is constitutional.

Marshall Amis, general PHA counsel, told a reporter, "my advice to all Ohio cities which want to participate in the program is to go ahead and file applications."

"We might or we might not accept the applications before a test suit has settled the question of constitutionality of the law in question, but at least they would have protected and preserved their rights to participate have so much at stake that they would be wise to follow that procedure."

Amis said PHA forms on which to apply for preliminary loans for surveys and planning will be ready soon.

Toledo, Dayton and Akron already have indicated officially their desire to launch new public housing projects under the PHA program. The federal agency believes several others also will apply.

Already in existence, a spokesman said, is a "postwar shelf" of plans for public housing projects desired by eight other Ohio cities. They are listed as Cleveland, whose planners want to build at least 6,000 family units; Cincinnati, 2,850 units; Columbus, 1,548; Youngstown, 935; Struthers-Campbell, 350; Lorain, 310; Portsmouth, 250 and Elyria, 160.

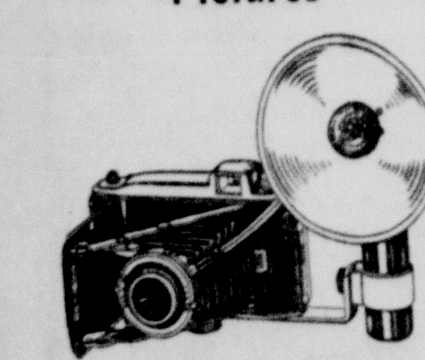

These are projects which local planners hoped would provide early postwar employment for returning war veterans. Whether the municipalities still desire to go ahead with them under PHA has not been announced to the agency.

The spokesman said, however, "it would seem logical to believe that the need for such housing was not declined much, if at all, and that some of those cities will want to apply."

Several Ohio cities also made ambitious slum clearance plans during or after the war. A spokesman said Cleveland and Dayton have indicated desire to participate eventually, but are believed to prefer starting public housing programs first.

Work now is in progress to prepare a formula for federal loans and grants to states for slum clearance and urban redevelopment.

No trace of the parties could be found by Sheriff Hays and Deputy, Charles Foster.

Planes Tested For Arctic Use

Huge AAF Hangar
For Developments

ELGIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. July 28—(P)—Behind heavily insulated and guarded walls, this air proving ground is waging a cold war that counts. It is testing air force planes, weapons and men against sub-zero arctic cold.

Tests are carried out in a towering all-weather hangar that can swallow the biggest military plane now in existence, then subject it to a 100-mile per hour blizzard, or withering desert heat.

The experiment: conducted in the climatic hangar are only part of the many operations under way at this 800-square mile proving ground.

The air proving ground, commanded by Major General William E. Kepner, takes new air force equipment and subjects it to strains and stresses of assumed combat operations.

It decides how these new planes and weapons can best be used in actual operations. And frequently its technicians recommend improvements which are built into equipment before it is placed in large-scale production.

America's newest radar defenses are under constant test at Elgin. So is the ability of the air force's latest jet fighters to stop its biggest bombers, the B-36 and the B-50.

General Kepner said bombers make frequent unscheduled attempts to penetrate the air proving ground defenses. Waiting for them are the newest air force jet fighters, kept on 24-hour alert. Kepner said F-80, F-84 and F-86 jet fighters and F-82 twin Mustangs have made a "satisfactory percentage of interceptions on the attacking bombers."

A visit to Elgin is a visit to the air force of the future. The air proving ground receives one of the first new planes, guns, bombs and other pieces of equipment to come off the production line.

are hosts to the javelin-shaped new F-86 jet fighter and the B-36, the world's biggest bomber.

Its testing arsenal are stocked with the new rockets and improved guns and bombs which make a modern warplane a flying destroyer. Commercial units test the vastly improved postwar fire and smoke bombs.

Remote target grounds are chewed up and scarred by the blast and heat of the tons of missiles tested upon them.

BASES IN THE ARCTIC

WASHINGTON, July 28—(P)—The air force is talking about forward air bases deep in the arctic at which bombers could refuel on strikes across the Polar Cap.

A cautious official reference to this hitherto secret plan for stretching the reach of bombers operating from airfields within the United States came to light today. In a report on plans and money needs for the new heavy bomber base at Limestone, Me., the air force says:

"A typical Polar operation might involve aircraft taking off from United States air bases, the staging or topping off of these air-

R. B. Howard, state central committeeman from the seventh district and state GOP treasurer, in an effort to get her to change her mind.

After the meeting, Howard issued a statement to newsmen which said:
"In view of Miss Baker's experience and valuable work in behalf of the party and considering the importance of the coming campaign, it is the sense of the chairman represented in the meeting that it would be unwise to lose her counsel and assistance at this time."

"Miss Baker stated that for some time she has wished to resign and that she still does, but she told the chairman she would consider their request."

The state GOP committeewoman said earlier yesterday she wished to give more attention to personal and business affairs. She is president of the Champion Company, which manufactures coffins and undertakers supplies.

A heavy contributor and worker in Republican campaigns, Miss Baker has represented the seventh district since 1936. The district includes nine counties: Clark, Clinton, Logan, Champaign, Union, Madison, Greene, Fayette and Warren.

Two women who have been mentioned prominently as possible successors to Miss Baker include Mrs. Lucille Byerly of Mechanics-burg treasurer of the Ohio League! Mrs. Miriam Yeazell of Springfield of Young Republican Clubs, and field, Clark County recorder.
